

Furlong, P. O. Buckingham, Pa.

Sir:

Was indeed surprised of yours of the 13th stating my absence was unknown to you. The latter part of last month I spoke to Mr. Holly that it would be a necessity for me to have a leave of absence - and he stated that he would speak to Mr. Steele, and thought that it would be all right. Mr. Steele and Mr. Chelton talked the matter over, when they thought on account ^{of} being so very busy, it would be impossible to grant my request. I then stated that the case was a necessity, and as I could not ^{be} spared, the compulsion of a resignation was my only remedy, as sorry as I was to say so. If any of the rules have been violated, as stated, I never ~~did~~ intended, on my part, to do anything of the kind knowingly, and until your letter was received, thought all matters were accepted, as I had no other remedy, trusting however, to hear that you have not dropped me from the rolls for any violation of the rules, but have accepted the resignation, I am

Respectfully,

Thos. F. Bradley.

Sir:

Was indeed surprised of yours of the 13d stating my absence was unknown to you. The latter part of last month I spoke to Mr. Holly that it would be a necessity for me to have a leave of absence and he stated that he would speak to Mr. Steele, and thought that it would be all right. Mr. Steele and Mr. Chester talked the matter over, when they thought on account of being so very busy, it would be impossible to grant my request. I then stated that the case was a necessity, and as I could not be spared the compulsion of a resignation was my only remedy, as sorry as I was to say so. If any of the rules have been violated, as stated, I never intended, on my part, to do anything of the kind knowingly, and until your letter was received, thought all matters were accepted, as I had no other remedy, trusting however, to hear that you have not dropped me from the rolls for any violation of the rules, but have accepted the recognition, I am

Respectfully,
Thos. F. Bradley
